committed her to Believne Rospital for examination as to her mental condition.

When she was taken to the breame pavilion at Believne the physicians and nurses enceavored to clicit something of her history from the strange young woman, but failed.

A special nurse was placed in charge of her and later the nurse found a scrap of paper, or which was written the name Mathilia Andesen, in the pocket of the girl's dress. The hospital authorities concluded that that was her name and entered it on the records.

Dr. Stewart Bouglass, who is in charge of the insane pavilion, said to an Eventse Word, preported this morning that he was at a loss to understand the nature of the young woman's strange dumbness. He believed her be insane, but insane persons are usually very willing to talk. A special examination he said, would be made in her case this evening, and its outcome will be awaited with
